MASTER COMMUNITIES

WHAT IS A MASTER COMMUNITY?

An EBF Master Community (MC) is a part of the EBF and the Faculty of Economics & Business that focuses on a specific master program. The purpose of a Master Community is to bring students of a certain master in contact with their fellow students, alumni, companies and professors of their master program. Each EBF Master Community organises several formal and informal activities for their fellow students. Because the EBF Master Communities consist of students from a specific master program, each MC's activities are tailored to the needs of students of that master program. The activities of your EBF Master Community are the perfect way to meet other students doing your master, but also to get into contact with businesses that are active in the field of your master.

WHAT ARE THE DIFFERENT MASTER COMMUNITIES?

The EBF offers the following EBF Master Communities:

- Human Resource Management
- Change Management
- Strategic Innovation Management
- Small Business and Entrepreneurship
- International Economics and Business
- International Business and Management.
- Economics
- Health

Each Master Community has its own committee which organises activities for its specific target group, so make sure you become a member of your own community on Facebook! Deadlines for EBF Master Community recruitment differ per MC, so keep an eye on the EBF Website for more info.
